

MÃ¡nu MÃ¡nnÃ¡ (Child of the Moon)

Sofia Jannok

MÃ¡nu mÃ¡nnÃ¡

The child of the moon
has skin smooth as silk
So pale, almost white
The colour of milk

Her hair falling down
with traces of gold Lightens the night
of darkness and cold

Her laughter is soft
Her smile so bright
The look of her eyes
is a capturing sight

The child of the moon
takes a walk through the air Lets some light in to the souls of despair

MÃ¡nu mÃ¡nnÃ¡, mÃ¡nu mÃ¡nnÃ¡;
mÃ¡nu mÃ¡nnÃ¡, mÃ¡nu mÃ¡nnÃ¡, mÃ¡nnÃ¡;
MÃ¡nnÃ¡, mÃ¡nnÃ¡, mÃ¡nu mÃ¡nnÃ¡;
mÃ¡nnÃ¡, mÃ¡nnÃ¡, mÃ¡nu mÃ¡nnÃ¡?

When she arrives
she's singing a song
A melody of joy
that echoes for long

Every one who's around wants to embrace
her appearance of love,
beauty and grace

But into her heart
there is no way
Night is her friend

She's gone in the day

She is the one to ease up your fears But who is to dry
her own moonlit tears?

MÃ¡;nu mÃ¡;nnÃ¡;...
Manin mÃ¡;nnÃ¡;, mÃ¡;nu mÃ¡;nna manai?
