Fate's Descent

Quo Vadis

My body rests in a dark chamber

As I am receiving final farewells

A saddened silence fills the air

The smell of flowers, the smell of deathThe latch is opened, my skin reflects the light

A short prayer is recited in my honour

Some take a step forward, their stares descend

Looks of deception, looks of despairSome are faceless, some are caught in the momentCommunication at light speed occurs faster than words can be expressed

One-way telepathy provides the living souls a sense of presence when left aloneA mental sketch is tattooed on their minds time to say their "adieux" arrives

My vessel sealed, a cold breeze strikes the world beyond

I am imprisioned from the world of lightSome induce tears, hostage to emotionLooking from above, I can feel their pain

... I will guide

Purity resists, faith will overcome

... I survive

They forgive my sins, I can feel the peace

... Of my life

Looking through their souls Timeless sense of loss, overtaking thee

... I will guide

With a mere remorse, they will call to me

... I survive

Tell the secrets of an unforgotten past

... Of my life

Looking through my soul...Voiceless.. but present...Some can feel it, some ignore the forcesAs I descend into the depths of goodbyesThe raining earth is bestowed upon my being

As I watch over and comfort theeA last prayer in unison beginsForever lasting, words do not die Priceless balance"You feel I have abandoned you, but it is you who left me behind"

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/