

The Bells

The Family Crest

Love, give me your time
And pour me more wine
Set by the fire, we two
And I'd give it all for you'Cause now, out in the streets
It's silent, it's sweet
And echoing softHow the bells
They played their songs for you
And the bells
They played their songs for youOh, how now the night
It pulls down the light
Here how the stars shine through
And I'd give it all for you'Cause now out in the streets
It's silent, it's sweet
And echoing softHow the bells
They played their songs for you
And the bells
They played their songs for youHold me under
My heart's a mess
Loud like thunder
Straight from my chestOh, outside it's cold
So dear, grab your coat
The city is quietAnd the bells
They played their songs for you
And the bells
They played their songs for you
