

Lonely Angel Dust

Laura Veirs

The rose is not afraid to blossom
Though it knows its petals must fall
And with its petals fall seeds into soil
Why toil to contain it all? Why toil at all? Ice crystals form from flakes of heaven
Fall down weightless to the earth
To them its worth the falling
Through atmospheres a-dawning And open arms a-calling
To collect and protect all the raining
Insane from above
For lonely angel dust The only angel does
The lonely angel dust
The only angel does
The lonely angel dust
