

Casablanca Sucked Anyways.

A Day to Remember

I've spent so much time,
Tryin to fix your life,
That I forgot about mine.

This time I'm putting my foot straight
through the floor
You won't be walking through any of my doors anymore.

So tell me what's so wrong with me,
that you could leave so easily?
And you threw this all away,
for the chance to
leave me.

She makes me happy;
she sparks a light inside;
you never failed
to blow out.
Look at everything.
Look at all that you've become;
nothing more than a memory...

So tell me what's so wrong with me,
that you could leave so easily?
And you threw this all away,
for the chance to
leave me.

You make me sick.
With every move you make.
When will you find your place in this world?
(Cause it'll never be beside me)
Again...

So tell me what's so wrong with me,
that you could leave so easily?
And you
threw this all away

for the chance to
leave me...

Please tell me what's so wrong with me,
that you could leave so easily?
And you threw this all away,
for the chance to
leave me...

---

Lyrics submitted by Erin.

Lyrics provided by <https://damnyrics.com/>