Enemy

Copperview

You see darkness, I see light
You want to run, I'll stay and fight
For the things I believe in you see
For the situation you put me in
Thrown your stones and your two bid grins
Well I'll take them all
As they comeSo tell me how the hell you sleep at night
Do you toss and turn with all your might
With the feeling you've lost control?
How in the hell have we come to this?
You were my friend and you will be missed
But I will no longer stand by your sideYou've become my enemy
You've become my enemy
And I'm broken down insideToo many times yes I have found
I lend a hand when you were down
For nothing in return how I see
But I'm tired now and the feeling shows
Nothing left to do I know
But tell you just how I feelSo tell me how the hell you sleep at night
Do you toss and turn with all your might
With the feeling you've lost control?
How in the hell we've come to this
You were my friend and you will be missed
But I will no longer stand by your sideYou've become my enemy
You become my enemyI always thought somehow you would pull through
But everyone who ever cared for you is leaving
Day after day
Don't need your bullshit or your self made crown
Your jealousy
You let me down
And I'll tell you just how I feelCause you see darkness, I see light
You want to run, I'll stay and fight
For the things I believe in you see
The situation you put me in
You throw your stones and your two bid grins
Well I'll take them all
As they comeThere's things I've said
There's things I've done
I never mean to hurt anyone

And I'd take them back, baby if I could
But for your sake when it finds you
All the friends you had behind you
Are leaving anywayYou've become my enemy
You've become my enemy
You've become my enemy
You've become my enemy
And I'm broken down inside
