

Hiding Place

Serena Ryder

Oh, oh, oh, if your radio didn't work
And your friends all ran away
Would you let yourself fall in love
If only for one day? Are you one of the ones who decides first off
And would you let me touch your face
If I decided not to decide at all?
Could I be the empty space? Oh darling, can I touch your face
And let your skin be my hiding place?
I promise I won't take up too much room Darling, can I touch your face
And let your eyes fall into love's embrace?
Forever isn't far, it's coming soon Forget about the accident
The words you didn't say
Forgot to call the ambulance
To take your heart away Oh darling, can I touch your face
And let your skin be my hiding place?
I promise I won't take up too much room Darling, can I touch your face
And let your eyes fall into love's embrace?
Forever isn't far, it's coming soon You're always watching and waiting
While everyone else's heart is breaking, darling
What are you so afraid of? Darling, can I touch your face
And let your skin be my hiding place?
I promise I won't take up too much room in you Oh and darling, can I touch your face
And let your eyes fall into love's embrace?
Forever isn't far, forever isn't far
Forever isn't far, it's coming soon Oh, it's coming soon
Oh, it's coming soon
Oh, it's gonna come for you

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>