

Nobody Right, Nobody Wrong

Michael Franti & Spearhead

They say you got to choose your side and when it's done
    Nobody right, nobody wrong
    It ended in a great big fight and when it's done
    Nobody right, nobody wrongConflict each and every day at home and in the streets
        And in my soul every way
    It's hard to keep the faith when I feels so far away
    Times I feel connected, times I'm runnin' awayBut whoa, whoa, can't you see
        All the sickness, hunger and poverty?
        War on the land and war on the seas
    Whoa, war is a painful thingOne argument that none of us can hide
        Is the one that's ragin' down deep inside
        Tryin' to make a point or have the last word
But most the time people just tryin' to be heardThey say you got to chose your side and when it's done
    Nobody right, nobody wrong
    It ended in a great big fight and when it's done
    Nobody right, nobody wrongBut how many people never ever broke a rule
        And how many people tryin' to get their kids to school
        And how many people pray they only find a job
    And how many people are afraid of gettin' robbedBut whoa, whoa, nobody knows
        And whoa whoa, only God knows
        Numbers escalate, Wall Street, crime rate
From the Baghdad streets to my city by the bayHey, they say you got to chose your side and when it's done
    Nobody right, nobody wrong
    It ended in a great big fight and when it's done
    Nobody right, nobody wrongAnd I say can you say what you mean
        And can you mean what you mean what you say?
        Can you say what you mean
        And can you mean what you mean what you say?
        Can you say what you mean
Every single day? Whoa, whoa, whoaReach out a hand to somebody who needs a hand
        And reach out a heart to somebody torn apart
        It's hard, this livin', this life we've been given
        Locked in your soul or locked up in prison
        Remember you got to reach high to be risen
The day you let go is the day you are forgiven, soThey say you got to choose your side and when it's done
    Nobody right, nobody wrong, nobody right now
    Nobody right, nobody wrong, nobody right, nobody wrong
    And I say one man got a jet fighter and the other got a song
        Nobody right, nobody wrong

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlrics.com/>