

Albert's Eyes

British Sea Power

The emotion in a stomach acid is equal to the depth of Albert's eyes
And all of the equations that were mastered belong to average ordinary life
Yeah I know, it's so Natural
Yeah I know, I've been here before But only if I ask you
And maybe not at all When you look down and see that you were playing upon the greatest oceanic truth
Yeah I mostly understand what you were saying
And after all there's quite a lot of proof But only if I ask you
And maybe not at all
It's getting colder in Alaska
But round here it's getting warm

Songwriters

Noble, Martin / Wilkinson, Jan Scott / Wilkinson, Neil Hamilton / Wood, Matthew James Published by
Lyrics © Sony/ATV Music Publishing LLC

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>