Years Ago

Fenin

We'd met one silent second before collided in tension all for fear walking a threshold that we musn't ignore message received loud and cleari lost my heart to you years ago where are you
where...are you now?
and so i learn what i already should've known years agosomewhere else again then with someone else my thoughts drift straight into you while i am bitterly betrayed by myself despite the fight of intellect instinct will rulei lost my heart to you years ago
where are you
where are you now?
and so i learn what i already should've known
years ago
love cures and love hurts love is and isn't true love we're all alonein my mind i have seen you silently while you seduce me i imagine every detail hear you as you're saying slowly come on come on right or wrong your choice is only give in to meI lost my heart to you years ago
where are you
where are you now?
and so i learn what i already should've known
years ago
years ago
years ago

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/