

An Exit

Holly Herndon

Day after day, if you were to say
What could we be, with will and belief?
Why stay apart, when we can leave together?
Would you let us leave, if I were to find a way out?
When there is nothing to gain
When there is nothing to lose
If I knew the way would you go?
When there is nothing to lose
If I asked the way would you know?
If I knew the way would you go?
Nothing to lose
Sail away. If I were to sail away, suddenly
What could we be, if we were to leave?
Nothing to lose
Sail away. If I were to sail away
Sail away
When there is nothing to gain
When there is nothing to lose
Nothing to gain
There is nothing to lose
If I knew the way would you go?
Nothing to lose
Would you, would go?
You, you, you, you, you
Go, go
Would you, would you, would you
