

Nature And The Wreck

Mates of State

Lying down I notice what you see below us

 Your arms are like the trees

 I know I haven't said enough

I know we haven't said enoughHow I will protect and how each day matters

 Spying shows your limbs caught in the rails

 These simple games will soon be growing tales

 And I know we haven't said enough

I know I haven't said too muchHow I will protect and how each day matters to meSince the wreck, I know more what you need

 You need me to put you in the trees

 I now we haven't said enough

 But I know I've never loved this much
