Someone Else's Life

Jessica Harp

Here I sit
Tears fallin' like they'll never quit
There you stand
All your pride in a suitcase in your handAnd it all feels so wrong
'Cause you knew it all along
That you lied when you said
You would love me 'til the endI wish this was someone else's life
I wish I could forget how to cry
I lie here alone and ache to the bone
Prayin' for it to endNo, you can't call this sleepin'
I'm talkin' but there's no one listenin'
It's just these old bones
They've been here through all
These cold and lonely nights
I wish this was someone else's lifeI'm here tonight
At that place you brought me all the time
And there you are
With another girl wrapped up in your armsI admit that it stings
'Cause she sure is prettier than me
And I bet she's real nice
And it cuts me like a knifeI wish this was someone else's life
I wish I could forget how to cry
I lie here alone and ache to the bone
Prayin' for it to endNo, you can't call this sleepin'
I'm talkin' but there's no one listenin'
It's just these old bones
They've been here through all
These cold and lonely nights
I wish this was someone else's lifeI wish this was someone else's life
I wish I could forget how to cry
I lie here alone and ache to the bone
Prayin' for it to endNo, you can't call this sleepin'
I'm talkin' but there's no one listenin'
It's just these old bones
They've been here through all
These cold and lonely nights
I wish this was someone else's lifeYeah, I wish this was someone
Someone else's life
Yeah, yeah

Someone else's life, oh, whoa
