Burn

Throwdown

BURNyou're living for one thing did you come this far to let life live you and betray your heart disconnected...by the doubt in your head You'be been scarred by failure but never againIn this life you only get one chance at one thing trust in who you are and who you're becoming cus when you thought life had come undone you crush all those who spit in your face cus your time hasyour time has come your time has come (your time has come) time has come for you to burnTime has come for you the time for all of us to the time has come for you to burn everyone and everything that said you were nothing (x2)They said you were nothing til they made you who you are destroy those lies cus you've earned these scars Disrespected...time after time friend lied to and stepped on but never againonly you and you alone choose your path in life you better fight cus there's nowhere to hide no escape and nowhere to run no turning back now cus your time hasyour time has come your time has come (your time has come)
time has come for you to burntime has come for you
The time has come for all of us to
The time has come for you
to burn everyone and everything that said you where nothing downburn them to the ground
BURN

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/