

Flaws

Alan Jackson

Flaws, everybody's got 'em
You can bet your last two dollars
There ain't no tens
All them flaws
Ones you came with or you caused them
Scars or tattoos that went rotten
We all got flawsThe woman that I love, she's purer than a dove
I know her best than anyone I guess
The thing I like the most, the wrinkle on her nose
And all the little parts that are uniqueAll her flaws, everybody's got 'em
You can bet your last two dollars
There ain't no tens
All them flaws
Ones you came with, or you caused them
Scars or tattoos that went rotten
We all got flaws, aw, yeahYeah, I look at my two eyes
Left higher than the right
I guess that's just the way I'm supposed to be
I snore when I'm asleep, got long and lanky feet
The pieces of the puzzle that I amAll my flaws, everybody's got 'em
You can bet your last two dollars
There ain't no tens
All them flaws
Ones you came with or you caused them
Scars or tattoos that went rotten
We all got them flawsSo, never be ashamed, embarrassed or afraid
'Cause everyone has something they don't like
Remember we're all made with water, dirt and grace
We're all perfect in the eyes that seeAll our flaws, everybody's got 'em
You can bet your last two dollars
There ain't no tens
All them flaws
Ones you came with or you caused them
Scars or tattoos that went rotten
We all got flaws
We all got flaws
Everybody's got a few flaws, flaws, flaws, yeah
Nobody's perfect
