Butterfly

David Reo

Butterfly,
So Beautiful and free.
Butterfly.
Fly away with me.

For you are like the Earth and the wind and the tide
where the moonbeams kiss the sea.
You are more then words can ever say,
as soft as a summer breeze.

You are like the sun bursting through the sky,
once veiled from a full eclipse.
You are something rare and beautiful,
As endless as love's first kiss.

You're a new beginning, you're a sunrise,
All the birds sing out your name.
Nestled in your love there is a solace,
That quenches barren hearts like summer rain.

Your eloquence and grace are humbling,
Your eyes ignite a flame with just a spark.
Your smile is a sweet as sweet can be,
Your warmth invokes a blessing to all hearts.

Butterfly.
Fly away with me
Butterfly,
So Beautiful and free.

You're a beacon on a sea of darkness,
You're a crystal shining like a star.
You can fill the world with beams of sunshine,
No one can compare to who you are.

You are like a treasure in the sunlight,
Shadowed yet not out shined.
You are like a refuge in a secret canyon,
Filled with every flower in desire.

You are like the colors of Sedona,
In a sunset afterglow.
You are like The Field Of Flowers Near Arles,
On the pallet of Van Gough.

You are blessed with radiant and mystical auras,
Earth's shadow makes no contact with the Moon,
The universal synergy of all mankind,
Can not escape the beauty that is you.

You are from the sacred garden of Hijra,
You are from the holiest place,
You are from the Seven Cities Of Gold,
Your eyes, your soul, your lips, your face.

Your beauty is immeasurable
So soothing to one's eye.
Your radiance and glow illuminates,
Like the stars up in the sky.

You are hotter than the glowing embers of passion,
Burning on an open sea of flames.
Lips like candy, scent of love's sweet harmony,
Heaven knows you're more then just a name.

You are like a saint in a Spanish mission,
You are like a candle and a prayer,
You are deep and dark and introspective,
You are beautiful and you are here.

Butterfly - Nicole.
