

Flying Scotsman

Spear of Destiny

Standing on the beach in France
With the Mistral in our soul
I heard you crying it's all over
And you could not go home
So you took the train
That took you to the end

We took in cities
Prophets and the Holy Land
Yes some fell off Tay Bridge
A listening to McGonigle
So between here and there
On the bridge we sighed, said goodbye
So you took the train
That took you to the end
