

War Inside Your Heart

The Beautiful Bodies

These are the words you'll read on my postcard
These are the words you'll read when I'm gone
Regrets and memories, I'll leave you breathless
You made your bed alone You want me back

You need me now

There's a war inside your heart
You can't take back what isn't yours

You say you've changed

You say you're scarred

There's a war inside your heart
You can't take back what isn't yours

There's a war inside your heart

These are the things I learned from my father

All of the things you'll never be

Photos will fade but they're not forgotten

I watch you fade away You want me back

You need me now

There's a war inside your heart
You can't take back what isn't yours

You say you've changed

You say you're scarred

There's a war inside your heart

You can't take back what isn't yours

There's a war inside your heart You could never change my mind

I left that part of me behind

You want me back

You need me now

There's a war inside your heart
You can't take back what isn't yours

You say you've changed

You say you're scarred

There's a war inside your heart

You can't take back what isn't yours

There's a war inside your heart

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>