Ghost in the Machine

B.o.B

Tell me where am I supposed to go?
And who am I supposed to believe?
If only you knew what I knew
Then you could see just what I seeSo I grab my bags and go as far away as I can go
'Cause everything ain't what I used to know
And I try to hide but I just can't hide no more
There's nothing worse than feeling like a ghostYou say I look fine, if only you knew what was on my mind
You'd see a whole different sign, I couldn't show you even if I tried
I must have got lost in time when I found out
I was only free to be where ever I want to beSome say I'm out of sight, how I run and that we're all so blind
If you could open up your eyes, you could see what I couldn't describe
And then, you'd see the signs and then your soul would be set free
And then you'd be releasedSo I grab my bags and go as far away as I can go
'Cause everything ain't what I used to know
And I try to hide but I just can't hide no more
There's nothing worse than feeling like a ghostTell me, where am I supposed to go?
And who am I supposed to believe?
If only you knew what I knew
Then you could see, heySo I grab my bags and go as far away as I can go
'Cause everything ain't what I used to know
And I try to hide but I just can't hide no more
There's nothing worse than feeling like a ghostAnd I'm terrified like I've seen a UFO
'Cause everything ain't what I used to know
And I try to hide but I just can't hide no more
There's nothing worse than feeling like a ghostI go, a UFO
And I'm so tired of hiding
I've been running, I've been trying
To get away, to get awaySo I grab my bags and go as far away as I can go
'Cause everything ain't what I used to know
And I try to hide but I just can't hide no more
There's nothing worse than feeling like a ghost