Breaking Benjamin

(Instrumental)

When you have certain experiences
You respond with various emotions, Stimulus Response
Just that as this sort of stimulus
Produces this sort of involuntary muscle response
Well, that's a rather simplified suggestions
Of a complex mental process
But you get the idea.
Cause, Effect.

Nature endows us at birth with 3 general patterns of emotional response

Rage: Is the response to the primary stimulus of Thwarting

Something interfering with our behavior, our action

Fear: Is the response to loud noises, or loss of support

And the emotional response to Love

Is usually the result of a show of affection, or favors

(Instrumental)

--the primary stimulus of Thwarting

Something interfering with our behavior

Fear: Is the response to loud noises, or loss of support
