

Will You Still Love Me

leah andreone

Dying to scream
So I hide and sing
A disillusioned voyeur
Studying the sane God keeps whispering
In the devil's ear
Hallelujah
Things are getting weird I'm nakedly perverted
Possessive and free
I wanna run away
But I never wanna leave I got an ax to grind
And a mouth to match
You better hear me out
Don't let me crash The blues in my eyes, take me swimming
I try to dance, the floor keeps moving
My swollen lips, the words aren't forming
The curtain's coming down Will you still love me tomorrow
When you find out who I am today?
Will you know my name tomorrow
When you hear the things I have to say
Will you still love me tomorrow? I'm black, I'm white
I'm the human race
Call me Eve
How's the apple taste In a perfect world
I'd find my place
Try to change me
What a fucked up waste My body's cold, the whispers chill me
Expose myself, am I still pretty?
Are you so flawless or is it gutless
That you can't accept me? Will you still love me tomorrow
When you find out who I am today?
Will you know my name tomorrow
When you hear the things I have to say? Will you still love me tomorrow
When you find out who I am today?
Will you know my name tomorrow
When you hear the things I have to say? Talking it into the ground
Do you have the faith knowing what you've found?
What others hide, I'm laying it down
Conformity is our tragedy The blues in my eyes, take me swimming
I try to dance, the floor keeps moving

My swollen lips, the words aren't forming
The curtain's coming down Will you still love me tomorrow
When you find out who I am today?
Will you know my name tomorrow
When you hear the things I have to say? Will you still love me tomorrow
When you find out who I am today?
Will you know my name
When you hear the things, you hear the things? You're higher
Will you, will you?
Will you know my name?

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnllyrics.com/>