

Your Ghost

Hannah Georgas

your ghost was loud yeah, it was onto you
and it
it got you down no way i could get through so i just shut out the noises of those ghosts and held my ears to mute the voices of the cold and i i watched them talk till you sleep and when they awake my hands will block out their screams and you can take take what you want you can
take what you want to take and i, thought you were on my side i thought you were on my side and i, thought you were on my side i thought you were on my side your eyes filled the grey the night veered and flashed its ugly teeth and i I had no choice but to walk away They gave me no choice, I had to leave And I, shut out the noises of those ghosts
and i
I watched them cut till you bleed, with my hands tied back I watched as they feast and you can take
take what you want and i, thought you were on my side
i thought you were on my side
i thought you were on my side and what does it take, to give, without expecting something and what does it take, to love, without expecting something and i, thought you were on my side
i thought you were on my side
and i, thought you were on my side
i thought you were on my side
and i, thought you were on my side
i thought you were on my side
and i, thought you were on my side

i thought you were on my side
on my side
on my side
on my side
