

Modern Day Romance

Nitty Gritty Dirt Band

We met on the highway, she flagged me down
Had a flat on her Stingray with nobody around
I helped her out, she said climb in
So I ditched my ol' truck just to see where the party would end
We spent the weekend in Reno in the honeymoon suite
Never saw the casino, barely took time to eat
I never dreamed she would take me this far
But by Sunday that lady had taken a hold of my heart
It's a modern day romance, a new kind of game
With no time to slow dance in the fast lane
I tried to love her without any strings
But a modern day romance has left me some old-fashioned pain
She never said goodbye, just a note by the phone
Said, "Thanks for the good times but it's time to move on"
Well, I'm out here walkin' with my thumb in the air
Wondering where she might've gone and why I even care
