

Same Sad Song

Smokie Norful

You know, I was looking at the condition of the world the other day
Seems there's too much killing, too much dying, too much pain

I don't know about you, but I'm tired

Tired of the same old sad song

Sittin' at the window of life

Watching the world go by

Seeing little brothers and sisters

With pain and fear in their eyes

Wishing I could take them

And make them all my own

Giving them hope and peace

Instead of that same old sad song

I will sing unto you a new song

A song about love and peace and joy

For every man, girl and boy

And I'm tired of singing about the perils of this life

Seems the world is only moaning and groaning

With misery and strife

It's the same old sad song

Yeah, yeah, yeah

Saw an old man on the street

Hurting and so in need

Wish I could take the whole world

And place it at his feet

I wish I could change his world

And give him a brand new talk

Giving him health and joy

Instead of that same old sad song

I will sing unto you a new song

A song about love and peace and joy

For every man, girl and boy

And I'm tired of singing about the perils of this life

Seems the world is only moaning and groaning

With misery and strife

It's the same old sad song

Yeah, yeah, yeah

I will sing a new song

A song for the whole world to see

I will lift my voice and cry out
Telling them that you're all they need
Give them love, joy, peace
A little understanding that will never, ever fade
I will sing a new song
A song for the whole world to see, hey, yeah
Just give Him your burdens
Then you can sing a new song
Give God your problems
And you will sing a new song
Give Him your heartaches
You will sing a new song
Give God your trials
Yeah, yeah, yeah
It's the same old sad song
Yeah, yeah, yeah
Tired of the same old, same old sad song
