

Blown Away

Under The Flood

You see me down of everything
You left me standing all alone
Just to save your innocent self
(You push me closer to the edge)
You can't stand alone, no
You couldn't even stand to fall
And now I suffer while you walk
You've crossed the line
Blown away, I can't see where it all went
Blown, thrown away, all of the things
That you had already meant to say
My mistake for always trusting in you
And never questioning your intent
Such a shame, but I'll weigh it all out in the end
I'm finding it easier to breathe
With this cage surrounding me
The gentle tapping feels so sweet
I think of all the times about

All the times you let me down
My sentence has been reduced but I'll wait
You're out of time
Blown away, I can't see where it all went
Blown, thrown away, all of the things
That you had already meant to say
My mistake for always trusting in you
And never questioning your intent
Such a shame, but I'll weigh it all out in the end
You said don't go, I need you so bad
I'm hopeless and I can't hold it all on my own
I've tried to listen certain final words and now I'm
Blown away, I can't see where it all went
Blown, thrown away, all of the things
That you had already meant to say
My mistake for always trusting in you
And never questioning your intent
Such a shame, but I'll weigh it all out in the end

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlyrics.com/>