

When a Lover Leaves You (Grn Remix)

Erasure

What a situation
Senses gone and left me
Lies are like confetti on the floor Words are leading nowhere
Delicate and tender
Tenterhooks that drive me to despair Storms are blowing
Winds are calling to me Be my escape, my reward
It is you I adore, see me through
Where there are demons
I see angels passing by
The morning after nights before
I have tried When a lover leaves you
Cuts you without knowing
The world just falls apart beneath your feet Talk is cheap and useless
Nothing but excuses
Lies are like confetti in my hands Storms are blowing
Winds are calling to me Be my escape, my reward
It is you I adore, see me through
Where there are demons
I see angels passing by
The morning after nights before
I have tried Be my escape, my reward
It is you I adore, see me through
Where there are demons
I see angels passing by
The morning after nights before
I have tried Where there are demons
I see angels passing by
The morning after nights before
I have tried Where there are demons
I see angels passing by
The morning after nights before
I have tried
