

In The Beginning

Robben Ford

In the beginning
there was a hum
from a poet whose pulse fell DRUM DRUM DRUM!
He would perform prayers and all till one day he heard a voice call COME COME COME!
Sus'pi'cious he moved
with vicious caution Dismisses,
he thinks is a little often People get held back by the void inside 'em.
YO!
The void said,
I'm poised to speak inside you...
"Rejoice then ...please let me invite you ...To evil, greed and lies too."
YEAH!
Confused and dazed
he moved in ways
he soon became "Hakuna"
BOOM BOOM BOOM
A knock on his door, his heart is no more
A knock on his door, his soul is no more Yeah...
That was in the beginnin'
As the story goes on...
So -
The poet?s got a proposal
he would always hope but never know what it feels
to be free
He would be the frozen
imposed as the chosen,
all laws oppose him
But it would be greed
That?s got him there
he's power-hungry,

and proud too
People don't care, he will just care Evil don't care, he will just prayer...

Yeah
That was In the beginning.. there was a hum
...then things changed

They say-it is better to light a candle than to curse the dark in the eyes of the youth there are question marks
like freedom
freedom for the mind and soul, we don't see them
see them for their worth at all,
that's why we lead em
lead em to these wars
and what is it we feed em feed em our impurities
and who it is we treat em treat em like the enemy humanity will need em
need em like the blood we spill and we're freedom
freedom for the hearts we fill we mislead em
they hunger for the love we give but we cheat em
the guys beat him and all he wants
is his freedom,
so they defeat him,
whatever spirit he's got
"beat him"
and they teach him
the rest of the world don't need him and he believes in the disease that he's heathen Put up your fists if all you want is freedom Put up your fists if all you want is -
That was in the beginning...
and we keep holdin' on,
and we keep bein' strong...

and we keep goin' on
and on and on and on...
