Pause the Tragic Ending

Rachael Yamagata

Draw me under, cut me open
Take my heart, I give it to you
Call the thunder and bring the storm
Hold me close, I beg of youAnd pause the tragic ending
For just a moment more
Draw the dresser out
And slide it to the doorAnd burn the air out of the room
Close the curtain and kill the lights
Only seconds left to tell you
How I need you every nightAnd pause the tragic ending
For I'm almost out of breath
Whisper in my ear
Take a bite out of my neckI'd give you blood
If that's what you need to stay alive
You'll be free and I will dieYou've fallen down broken, no sense
No sense, hey, no sense, hey
You've fallen down broken, no sense
No sense, hey, no sense, hey
You've fallen down broken, no sense
No sense, hey, no senseThrow the ashes out to sea
God forbid you, hurt her twice
Drink away the taste of me
And in the morning pay the pricePause this tragic ending
[Incomprehensible] to say
Wash the sheets and clear your head, you'll be okay
But bury me deep down in every song you playThe tragic ending
The tragic ending
The tragic ending saves the day

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/