Underneath The Radar

Thornley

I've never felt so warm
As I did the other night
We'd never make it anyway
We never were that real
With everything we've done
You think that there'd be something
Left for you and I
There's nothing left to fight about
Or to get all uptight about
So ladiday, let's go on holiday
I'm weathering the storm, I'm sounding the alarm
It's better now than later
While you never take the wheel
And tell me how it feels underneath the radar
I've never been that guy
Who'd make up reasons why
I've never been that all American
There's nothing left worth killing for
And I just cant take this anymore
Somebody needs to take a holiday
I'm breaking down the door, I'm sounding the alarm
It's better now than later
While you never take the wheel
And tell me how it feels underneath the radar
Maybe we just need a holiday
We just need a holiday
Maybe we just need a holiday
We just need a holiday
Maybe we just need a holiday
We just need a holiday
Maybe we just need a holiday
We just need a holiday
We just need a holiday
We just need a holiday
We just need a holiday
Weathering the storm, I'm sounding the alarm
It's better now than later
While you never take the wheel
So tell me how it feels underneath the radar

I'm breaking down the door, I'm sounding the alarm
It's better now than later
While you reinvent the wheel
Just tell me how it feels underneath the radar
We need a holiday
We need a holiday
We need a holiday
We need a holiday
We need a holiday
We need a holiday
We need a holiday
