

Used to Love Her

Jay Sean

I was crazy man you wouldn't believe what I seen
Got me reminiscing down too much memories
The only girl you know that in my heart
The one I almost gave that ring But we were so young, must've been only nineteen
I guess the time wasn't right and we said some mean things
A bitter day when I saw her face
She was the one that I let get away I remember when I used to love her, used to love her, used to love her
I remember when I used to love her, used to love her, used to love her
The time goes on, goes on, goes on
The time goes on, goes on, goes on There was talkin' in the room that everything's good
There was no love lost between us I couldn't Believe how I truly noticed now that I wasn't over her And now I'm like oh damn cause now I know man
Lookin' back at all our pictures while I'm playing slow jams
What can I say, is that the way our situation worked out
Wish there was something I could do Like stop the clock just lookin'
Go back and revisit our relationship and start brand new
And do the things that I didn't do I remember when I used to love her, used to love her, used to love her
I remember when I used to love her, used to love her, used to love her
The time goes on, goes on, goes on
The time goes on, goes on, goes on Man I know it's crazy
She pulled me back with just a smile
Now I feel these things inside
I haven't felt em' in a while
And I'm sure that they will go away just a little time
She'll always be that girl to me
But now I gotta let her see I used to love her
