

Infinity

Young Guns

Advisory - the following lyrics contain explicit language:

Standing on the edge
Watching traffic pass
And these rivers of broken glass
Everybody wants to believe there's something more to this Yet to hear the word of a higher power
From the streets to the tallest tower
Haunted by the questions unanswered
My world begins to spin Oh and when it starts to light up
It hits me like an atom bomb
Oh and sometimes it's enough to free me from the undertow This is where I belong And all these city lights
Another endless night
Full of all possibilities
Raise your glass to eternity I never felt so high
It's never been this right
And it's all about you and me
From tonight to infinity It's easy to feel small when the world's so big
Like a puzzle piece that doesn't fit
Everybody's looking for something to show them how to live Oh and when it starts to light up
The darkest corners of my soul
Oh no hell or high water
Can keep me from euphoria This is where I belong And all these city lights
Another endless night
Full of all possibilities
Raise your glass to eternity I never felt so high
It's never been this right
And it's all about you and me
From tonight to infinity Oh it's you and me
Tonight to infinity Oh it's you and me
Tonight to infinity This is where I belong And all these city lights
Another endless night
Full of all possibilities
Raise your glass to eternity I never felt so high
It's never been this right

And it's all about you and me
From tonight to infinity

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnllyrics.com/>