1001 Ways

Holly Dunn

I've got to say one thing for you
When it comes to letting me down
You've always got some new way to Tear me up, when you come aroundI'd have though that well had run dry by now
How many times can you make me fall apart?
You could write a book about it
No one should love without it1001 ways to break somebody's heart
I wonder, if you just came back
So you can say goodbye again
After all the times you've done thatWhy do I still let you in?
How can it be over, if it never ends?
How many ways can you find to hurt me?
How many times can you make me fall apart?You could write a book about it
No one should love without it
1001 ways to break somebody's heart
How many ways can you find to hurt me?How many times can you make me fall apart?
You could write a book about it
No one should love without it
1001 ways to break somebody's heart

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/