

A Smile

Hootie & The Blowfish

They pulled the switch that sent me far

 Into the rich and distant stars

 Bounced me back into your car

 Returning with a smile

 Constantly in rotation

 An astronaut on the radio station

 Passing on that sweet sensation

 If only for a while

A smile finally saved me, found me and repaid me

 For all the time that I've put in

 And now I'm smiling back again

 Just smile for a while

 We've just begun to smile

 A canyon cracks a smile at me

 As I pass at 80,000 feet

 Revolving only to receive America , America

 Please be free, be a part of me

 We need unilateral harmony

 Something that will help us be

 Better than before

A smile finally saved me, found me and repaid me

 For all the time that I've put in

 And now I'm smiling back again

 Just smile for a while

 We've just begun to smile

 As I wonder through

 It's all right in front of you

 Every moment matters in the end

 Smile at what used to be

 The glory and the agony

 Smile at a memory

 Smile at your enemies, yeah

A smile finally saved me, found me and repaid me

 For all the time that I've put in

 And now I'm smiling back again

 Just smile for a while

 We've just begun to smile

 Smile for a while

Smile
