

Cries After Making Love

Jonny Fritz

she captured the fog in the light of day break she's showing off the little campfire she made her tiny back pack has all that she needs she spins a narrative she wants you to believe she drove down the coast to camp all alone it is beautiful here, she never wants to go home she could stay here forever and throw away her phone she wants to show you how easy it is to be alone but did she show you how lonely she always is? how often she misses the touch of your lips? it's hard because it is never enough and oh how she cries after making love oh she hides her past under her floppy hat North florida roots and a crazy ol' man... no one ever left the pan handle so fast who could blame her for going so she moved out west for the weather of course but oddly enough she misses seasons the most but if she got in her car she could be on the coast in 25 minutes on a good day she never leads on that she needs you at all it seems like she's got everything that she wants but it's hard to believe that it's really enough and sometimes she cries after making love aw she's learning the banjo, and humming a tune sits on her front porch on warm afternoons sipping on a drink from a blue mason jar thumbing through all of her pictures then refreshing the screen in her great big bed that probably has a lot of blankets on it then shivering while holding the phone to her breast she's glad that you liked her picturerrrrre
