

Beauty Queen

Daniel Powter

When your love turns around stares you right in the face
And you lay on the ground wander off into space
They laugh at your back, they take what they see
But you were good enough for me, alright So you ran to the moon and you left us behind
Was that all just too cruel or we're just too unkind
I hope you remember, I hope you are clear
That you were good enough for me
Yeah, you were good enough for me You're learning how to fly away
My beauty queen from yesterday
And how's it felt to fall from grace
'Cause I never had the chance to say
That you were good enough, good enough for me If I can go back to the place
There would be time I must understood
Even though it's complicated
I can seem to overstate it, I think finally And the moment you go would you kiss me good bye
Wherever you go, I hope you believe
That you were good enough for me
Yeah, you were good enough for me I guess I wasn't very strong
I should've told you I was wrong
And I wish I had a second chance
'Cause I really need to understand Why you had to fly away
My beauty queen from yesterday
And how's it felt to fall from grace
I never had the chance to say
That you were good enough, good enough for me
