

Madeline

Corey Cyr

Hello there Madeline
How are you tonight?
Are you feeling a little bit lonely?
Do ya feel alright?
And how do you stand in your fight?
I sit here and wonder 'bout you.
Are you pushing with all your might?
Are you pushing through?
Times, they may be tough, yes I know it, this is true.
But don't worry, my darling dear
We'll be together soon. Has new love been found?
Have you been lost to lust?
Has everything fallen to pieces
And left a pile of dust?
And who is it you seek to trust?
Leaving everything behind.
If you must do so, do as you must,
But know you're crossing the line.
And these feelings they shall pass, don't let them get to you.
Just remember on the porch of your mind,
We'll be together soon. The night is fading away.
Into itself, a deep dark cave.
The time, she's passing back this way,
And my mind has been made.
I'm going to her today.
I'm going to her to see,
If it was all just a dream,
One big fantasy.
And so I made a vow to the stars and a pledge to the moon.
That you and I, Madeline,
We'll be together soon.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>