Watch Me Fall Apart

Sarah Jaffe

You said once you were sad but I don't believe you you're too simple in the head for pain to please you there are days when you feel good and days when you feel nothing at all

But there is no inbetween and is that, that kills you cause you don't know what to do which page to thumb through on all of my failures I've leaned but with God as my witness I fall

Oh one by one they watch me fall apart
oh one by one they watch me fall apart

Forgive me I'm empty and I want you to need me your assurance is a game and I'm always bluffing like suburban nature I've separated myself

But I'll kindly grip my teeth swallow and bury it unsettled and anxious and now I'm careless and I'm swearing in my sleep cursing as the day, as it goes by
