Against the Wall

Man Alive

Don't turn away
When I look you in the face and I present you with the question of our fate
Hope and dismay
Been the story of our lives these past ten years have made us doubt our fathers' dreamsHey, hey!
The end is hardly worth the means
Your work is done and life goes on without youGod bless you for your heart
Won't mean you're not wrong
And it won't change the fact that
You've got us up against the wall
