

Against the Wall

Man Alive

Don't turn away

When I look you in the face and I present you with the question of our fate

Hope and dismay

Been the story of our lives these past ten years have made us doubt our fathers' dreamsHey, hey!

The end is hardly worth the means

Your work is done and life goes on without youGod bless you for your heart

Won't mean you're not wrong

And it won't change the fact that

You've got us up against the wall
