

Something Diabolical

Bloodhound Gang

Eventide rise for ritual
With the thrill of a kill vengefully the engine will Roar forth steer the dead leave forced
Driven by fear shift gears veer towardsThe foolishly equipped swift these Failed bids breathed taillights from the crypt
Reflect upon the way beyond redemption
Let the necronometer beckon for the destinedBlessed when first lent sin then condemned to bear the burden
Of this curse the consequence of which can never be averted
Each tormented attempt that is made in vain
To evade this debt which is certain to be paidWithout question is met with a counter clocked surge
In reverse as if back-masked words of the black mass were
All heard by a clutch engaged
Over trails blazed to the western gatesHeaven may be running on empty yet the devil rides
Heaven may be running on empty yet the devil rides
Heaven may be running on empty yet the devil rides
Hell burns by angel turns her pillow to the cooler side
Something diabolicalIdle hands are bound for the Damned once Sam went down to Georgia
Speed was forged of the divine salt
Mined from the vaults of flame by the lostNamed as those sought as faults rests beneath
The wrong that was spawned from the tired screech
Of essence halted engulfed in the scent of exhaustion
A false witness with the sensed end is broughtTo bended knees when abandoned belief in
The mephistophelian plea for wicked unleashed sends Heed to reap grim an infernally decreed repossession
Vested in the fallen creed called on to retrieveMeed with the fueled intention of deprived intervention
The thundered calm that comes from the rattle of descension
Numbs the panicked from a havoc that reeks of oil
Barreling down this mortal coilHeaven may be running on empty yet the devil rides
Heaven may be running on empty yet the devil rides
Heaven may be running on empty yet the devil rides
Hell burns by angel turns her pillow to the cooler side
Something diabolicalTonight belongs to him, tonight belongs to him
Tonight belongs to him, tonight belongs to him
To him, to him, to him

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>