

Miss Templeton's 7000th Dream

Jukebox the Ghost

She recognizes the voice on the phone
But she can't recall his face
She hears knocking on her door at night
But he never leaves a trace
She's had seven thousand nights with the very same scene
Repeated again and again in her dreams:
A muffled scream, and a broken fall as the moonlight creeps in from down the End of the hall, it's just the stars stooping down to sing their goodbyes while a Man with a briefcase and hollowed out eyes spoke...
Over and over again...
Over and over again...
Stranger things have happened in my time
Stranger things have happened in my time

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>