

Stranger in Your Soul

Transatlantic

[I. Sleeping Wide Awake]Once, not so long ago

I lived far below

Where you are

I didn't even know

Home was far away

I was sleeping wide-awake

Breaking down

Waiting for the soundBut I can hear it now

Is it all too late

'Cause I would sell my dreams

If I could be awake

If I could be awakeThere - walking into walls

Piercing through the pain

Here we are

Reaching through the rain

I almost caught a glimpse

To feel that Sunday high

I would fall

This makes no sense at allBut I can hear it now

Not a single word

And though I'd strain my voice

I cannot be heard

Outside the smile

The insider breaks

And I would give my dreams

If I could be awakeWhatever you're looking for

Don't ever start looking behind

Whatever you want to change

You better start changing your mind

'Cause everything can be done

Stand up 'cause this is your time[II. Hanging in the Balance]Go where you're going to

You can rule your mind

You will not decay

Decay is always waiting

You've got nowhere to go

So you look behind

What you sought to find

Is always fadingWish to be wishless

Less can live evermore

More doesn't satisfy
The deeper meaning
Lose if you want to find
Find what you're looking for
For all your dreams can live
Live as if to satisfy the meaning Whatever you're looking for
Don't ever start looking behind
Whatever you want to change
You better start changing your mind
'Cause everything can be done
Stand up 'cause this is your time Drink in the big dream
Dream but you have to wait
Wait 'til you get it right
Write down every letter
Paint with the broadest strokes
Stroke through the deepest sea
See what you have in mind
To make it better Get in on the ground floor
Floor to ceiling is so high
High will become the low
It will make sense Want always wants some more
More is never enough
Enough is enough
Remember life is hanging in the balance Whatever you're looking for
Don't ever start looking behind
Whatever you want to change
You better start changing your mind
'Cause everything can be done
Stand up 'cause this is your time [III. Lost and Found Pt. 2] Don't you think if you could be lost
Don't you think you can be found
Don't you think if you were the world, you'd turn it around Whatever you're looking for
Don't ever start looking behind
Whatever you want to change
You better start changing your mind
'Cause everything can be done
Stand up 'cause this is your time [IV. Awakening the Stranger] In the time it takes to be lost or found
In the wake of something not for the crowd
Awakening the stranger in your soul
It isn't always quite that easy
Awakening the stranger in your soul All the rage the world goes on outside
It's alright come in here - it's safe to hide
Awakening the stranger in your soul
Is more than just a thought or feeling
There is no worldly danger beyond control
Awakening the stranger in your soul [V. Slide] Give up all the reasons that you know

Slide down where the time move nice and slow
Ease back and relax
No figures and no fax
Awakening the stranger in your soul It's alright to give up your control (come in where it's safe-there is no I)
Move along we've paid your expressway toll (look at all the others floating high) It's the 5: 00 am alarm
No time to use your charm
Surrender is the only way to go
Awakening the stranger in your soul
No thought for yourself you just let go [VI. Stranger in Your Soul] When you come to make love, your only goal
Words cannot describe the feeling
Awakening the stranger in your soul
From the shadow to the deepest meaning When you come to make love your only goal
Words cannot describe the feeling
Now we're here in full sight - we can be whole
Let's dive and never hit the ceiling There - walking into walls
Piercing through the pain
Here we are
Reaching through the rain
I almost caught a glimpse
Brighter than the sky
A child grown
A stranger coming home And I can hear it now
Every single word
And when I strain my voice
I will be assured
Outside the storm
But here the big break
That I might chance to dream
That I be awake
Awakening the stranger in your soul

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnllyrics.com/>