

Little Bit of Rust

Will Hoge

I bought your old man's beat up Chevrolet.
Paid him $2000 not to throw it away.
A little elbow grease to make that old thing shine
Even brighter than the day that it rolled off the line. Yeah sometimes this world has a way
Of wearing you down a little day by day.
You say you worry that we're going off track,
But we ain't lost nothing that we can't get back. Ain't nothing we can't fix.
Ain't no broken trust.
Ain't no great divide between the two of us.
It's just the heavy hand of time.
Kinda wears away the shine.
But don't worry. It's just a little bit of rust.
Well the truth is you could talk a little less,
And I could listen a little more.
But it ain't like anybody's walking out the door.
So unless you've got anything else to say,
I'm gonna go fire up that ol' Chevrolet. You can put your blue dress on and fix your hair just right.
I'm gonna take you out downtown tonight.
Walked across the floor like I did back then.
We'll dance until this old love shines again. Ain't nothing we can't fix.
Ain't no broken trust.
Ain't no great divide between the two of us.
It's just the heavy hand of time.
Kinda wears away the shine.
But don't worry. It's just a little bit of rust.
Ain't nothing we can't fix.
Ain't no broken trust.
Ain't no great divide between the two of us.
It's just the heavy hand of time.
Kinda wears away the shine.
But don't worry. It's just a little bit of rust.
Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>