

Fun Never Ends

Sense Field

Back then, we wished that we were older waiting for the summer
Everything was new, when everything was fun
She would come over and slip into the water
I wonder if she knew that she was the one Everybody wanted, every night she haunted us in our dreams
Then you wake up all alone All's fair in love and war
'Til it feels like you're dying alone
Tears turn to waterfalls
But I'd taste tears over nothing at all Now, we wish that we were younger, that feeling of the hunger
To want to try everything and anything we want
Frustration and the anger, never thinking of the danger
Or how we'd make it through, never thinking someone won't All's fair in love and war
'Til it feels like you're dying alone
Tears turn to waterfalls
But I'd taste tears over nothing at all The fun never ends, the fun never ends, fun never ends
'Til you bury a friend, 'til you bury a friend, 'til you bury a friend Now, we wish that we were younger, that feeling of the hunger
To want to try everything and anything we want
Frustration and the anger, never thinking of the danger
Or how we'd make it through, never thinking someone won't All's fair in love and war
'Til it feels like you're dying alone
Tears turn to waterfalls
But I'd taste tears over nothing at all Fun never ends, fun never ends, fun never ends
'Til you bury a friend, bury a friend, bury a friend
'Til you bury a friend, bury a friend, bury a friend
'Til you bury a friend, bury a friend, bury a friend
