Fun Never Ends

Sense Field

Back then, we wished that we were older waiting for the summer Everything was new, when everything was fun She would come over and slip into the water

I wonder if she knew that she was the oneEverybody wanted, every night she haunted us in our dreams

Then you wake up all aloneAll's fair in love and war

'Til it feels like you're dying alone

Tears turn to waterfalls

But I'd taste tears over nothing at allNow, we wish that we were younger, that feeling of the hunger To want to try everything and anything we want

Frustration and the anger, never thinking of the danger Or how we'd make it through, never thinking someone won'tAll's fair in love and war

> 'Til it feels like you're dying alone Tears turn to waterfalls

But I'd taste tears over nothing at allThe fun never ends, the fun never ends, fun never ends
'Til you bury a friend, 'til you bury a friendNow, we wish that we were younger, that feeling of the hunger

To want to try everything and anything we want
Frustration and the anger, never thinking of the danger
Or how we'd make it through, never thinking someone won'tAll's fair in love and war
'Til it feels like you're dying alone
Tears turn to waterfalls

But I'd taste tears over nothing at allFun never ends, fun never ends, fun never ends
'Til you bury a friend, bury a friend, bury a friend
'Til you bury a friend, bury a friend, bury a friend
'Til you bury a friend, bury a friend, bury a friend
