

Love Can Move You

Savage Garden

You can get me through the heart of the freeway
I got to see the lights up in New York City
I'm so close I think I can hear the sound
Of the taxi siren symphony Don't you want to feel amazing?
Baby you know I do
You'll get back ten times what you give freely
Like my mama told me Love can move you, take you deeper every time
Can make the darkest moments feel like heaven's come alive
Love can move you to a place inside your heart
Where you can fear no evil, acceptance is a natural part of life Climb into the heart of the subway
Creeping like a snake into New York City
I'm so close I think I can see those lights
Let the sun get closer to the ground Don't you want to feel amazing?
Baby you know I do
You'll get back ten times what you give freely
Just like my mama told me Love can move you, take you deeper every time
Can make the darkest moments feel like heaven's come alive
Love can move you to a place inside your heart
Where you can fear no evil, acceptance is a natural part of life It's about the one thing, it's about the one thing
About the kind of shoes you're wearing and about religion And I breathe the love you've given
And I feel the love you've hidden
Though it's cold down here well I can honestly say
I can still stay That love can move you
That love can move you, baby
That love can move you
I know that love can move you too child Love can move you, take you deeper every time
Can make the darkest moments feel like heaven's come alive
Love can move you to a place inside your heart
Where you can fear no evil, acceptance is a natural part You know love can move you, take you deeper every time
Can make the darkest moments feel like heaven's come alive
Love can move you to a place inside your heart
Where you can fear no evil, acceptance is a natural part And I breathe the love you've given
And I feel the love you've hidden
And though it's cold down here well I still, I still try And I say, "Love can move you"
You know that love can move you too child
Love can move you
You know that love can move you And I breathe the love you've given
And I feel the love you've hidden

It's cold down here but I still, I still say
