

Jesus & the Outlaw

Danny Vera

No one will ever see us
We're like two burglars in the night
We'll be the Jesus and The Outlaw
I wear black, and you wear white
I will always stand beside you
And I will guard you with my life
We're like those robbers from the thirties
You're the Bonnie, I'm the Clyde
And we'll be cruisin' in the moonlight
We'll be dancin' on a wire
We'll be hangin' with the famous and they keep wonderin' who we are
And the rich, they won't forget us just because we let them see Without their gold and money how pathetic they would be
I could be Batman, you'd be Robin
We'd be flying through the night
Cause the world is full of jokers who won't give up without a fight
But our strength grows with the hour and they are asking for the sign Cause we're fed up with the evilness that makes this city cry
And when we're flying with the angels
We'll be laughing about this life
We were the Jesus and The Outlaw
I wore black, you wore white
If we were Jedi, who is Vader Politicians with dark sides?
Or businessmen with red lightsabers
Who can burn Wall Street tonight
Or maybe an army of white bankers who can and will destroy our lives
I hope the force is with us against the men who can't decide
And when we're flying with the angels
We'll be laughing about this life
We were the Jesus and The Outlaw
I wore black, you wore white
And when we're flying with the angels
We'll be laughing about this life
We were the Jesus and The Outlaw
I wore black, you wore white
