Tables Turning

Harem Scarem

(Hess/Lesperance)
I didn't know I'd be worse off in the end
Then I ever thought I could be before
I can't do without what I thought I couldn't live with
I didn't realize it till you were gone
Now you can't find a reason
Not to throw it all away
I'm pleading all the words that
I thought I'd never say
Love Me
Now the tables finally turning
On me and my little world
Love Me
And the weight your tired of holding
Won't be heavy anymore
I can't let it go I prefer my heart pretending
I wanna believe time could change it all
But gone with the leaves like a ghost of all the seasons past
How could our endless fire feel so cold
I don't care why your leaving
The words mean all the same
You left me to lie bleeding
And turned your back away
