Sun Goes Down

A.M.7.

The sun goes down
Now you're coming apart, I keep falling apart
And the sun comes up
Now I don't know where to start, I keep falling apart
And the whole damn world keeps on breaking my heart
I don't know where to start
And I can't have my head in circles
Round and round and round in circles, yeah
I'm at the mercy of a wasted love
And all the things that pass me by
And everything I used to be
Is coming back to torture me
I don't know if I'll ever bounce back
If I'll ever get it back, go
Down the end of this road
And it never takes me home
I can't have my head in circles
Round and round and round in circles, yeah
I'm at the mercy of a wasted love
And all the things that pass me by
And everything I used to be
Is coming back to torture me
The promises in all my dreams
I'm broken now, it's all I see
Don't you lie to me
I know that I'm not free
Don't you lie to me
I know that I'm not free
I'm at the mercy of a wasted love
And all the things that pass me by
And everything I used to be
Is coming back to torture me
My eyes are blind and all I see
As all the world laughs at me
A darkened light cries out for me
I wish everyone would let me be
The sun goes down
I keep coming apart, I keep falling apart
