

Everything Remains as It Never Was

Eluveitie

Who Will

Measure the dimensions of antumnos?

Who can tell the gauge of its veil?

Who can manifest the size of its maw?

And infer the value of its stones? Yet the glowing wick will not be quenched

The sown fire will never die What ever was

what ever is to come

What would

What ever should

It will remain as it never was Eternity's past was repeated in time

The eternal knot will be unbroken

Whence comes the motion in this picture?

Where does the moment go when it steals away?

Who will pen the pages of time?

Who will be the audience when the curtain rises? Yet the glowing wick will not be quenched

The sown fire will never die What ever was

what ever is to come

What would

What ever should

It will remain as it never was

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>